Tanto Cuore is a card game for 2-4 players. Each player is a Lord of a castle-like mansion that they must own and run. To make your mansion a truly amazing place to live, you must keep your maids happy and well-fed! In order to acquire more Victory Points to give you the upper hand in the game, your opponents will attempt to make your maids sick, give them bad habits, and beat them up! However, for your own sanity, you must fight back and protect your maids! Just like real life, friendship makes all the difference. "Tanto Cuore" is a very energetic "Master of the House" card game, where each player plays as a Lord of a mansion and hires maids to fill out their mansion to become the best Master of the House around! The end goal is simple enough, the player who has the most Victory Points at the end of the game wins! You can employ multiple maids each time you play, but beware, your opponents can make your maids sick or give them bad habits, affecting your maids in negative ways and decreasing your Victory Points! If you love Japanese-style card games, you must try out Tanto Cuore! Have Facebook? Join the Tanto Cuore Group today! Follow Japanime Games on Twitter! In 1989, Stephen King published a short story titled "Something in the Night," the first chapter in his collection Nightmares & Dreamscapes. It's a long, dark story that centers on a man named Jack Hill who awakens from a nightmare after finding a strange dead creature in his study — a thing that's not quite human, more like a couple of fingers of God fused together. Now, Hulu will deliver a feature-length film version of "Something in the Night," starring Max Irons as Jack Hill, a doctor (he is a psychiatrist, in case you were wondering) whose seemingly routine life is interrupted by the mysterious events that occur throughout his home. The story has been adapted by Conor McPherson, the same director behind the 2013 adaptation of Joyce Carol Oates' short story collection, Go-Set, which starred Thomas Jane and Paul Giamatti. McPherson is no stranger to King, having also made films based on The Shining (2000 c9d1549cdd

Deadlands Reloaded: -New Stories by Deadlands Reloaded Creator: Deadlands

Reloaded includes a modified D&D 5th Edition game system, allowing for new adventures set in many different (and sometimes strange) locations across the American West. Other changes include updated mechanics such as skills, monsters, and classes, allowing us to utilize many of the rules found in Deadlands Reloaded player's guide and Deadlands Reloaded marshalls. The game system enables us to include new elements and mechanics while making it possible to keep all of the original Deadlands Reloaded setting. Deadlands Reloaded: -Coffin Rock Savage Tale: In our original setting, the Tombstone campaign in Tombstone, Arizona was a well-established mining settlement. However, for this mod, we set up a new Tombstone, forty years later, in the rugged, high-desert country of the Colorado Plateau.This "new" Tombstone has been sliding into hell. -A New Character Creation Scheme: Players will experience many new characters and scenarios in this new campaign, all with different occupations and tales to tell. -The VVVVVV Veteran - A "Badass" new hero to watch out for. -A Second Time Around - With a new Tombstone comes new trouble. A vampire strigoi has been stalking the town and made it his mission to make Tombstone a place even worse than it is right now. In other words, not a place you want to be. -Gone, But Not Forgotten - The vampires got their comeuppance, but not before they came a long way to do so. Some of the vampires have made it to St. Louis. -Hell Ain't A Bad Place To Visit - Why not? If vampires can go to the phantom town of Felipe, which some believe to be a ghost town, why can't you go somewhere even more horrid? -Shaman's Dead - Rumor has it a shaman is causing trouble at the entrance to the Boot Hill Cemetery. -Beyond the Border - There's more danger beyond the Tombstone you already know. -Additional NPCs - We've got a mystery villain, the Man in Black, a crazy preacher, and a desperate cult determined to save humanity's souls. -New Skirmish Concept - The city of Tombstone is built on unstable volcanic material. It is in the process of sliding into Hell. In order to stay intact as a city, it has to be constantly guarded. There are

What's new in Forest Ranger Simulator:

(mountain) Lorera is a mountain in the Italian Dolomites, located in Cles, Trentino. It is the highest peak of the Wipptal Alps. The mountain hosts the summit of the Marmolada Cableway, one of the most visited cable cars in Europe.

History When Napoleon invaded Italy in 1809, the area of the Albula, Adige and Brenta valleys was part of Austrian Lienz, Trento and West Tyrol in the Province of Trento. It was occupied by the Piedmontese in 1814 and was annexed by Italy in 1866. In summer 1886, the Italian Alpine Club declared that an Italian ascent of the Marmolada would not be considered further unless it was possible to reach the summit from Bianca, Wilczek or Sgherda. The first was impossible, but Wilczek is already 8,872 m high. The south-east upper slopes were discovered in 1879. The first ascents were made in the following four summers. The first successful ascent was made from the Breners in 1880. Finally in 1890 Wilczek and the Marmolada were first climbed to the summit from Bianca and Wilczek. The walk was regarded as a world first, as there was nothing but difficult and lonely terrain between Bianca and the top. The next ascent to the summit was made in September 1898 from the Troll station. The Breners station was built near the top the same year. The summit was first reached from Bianca on 30 August 1904 by the two Austrian climbers Louis Reith and Friedrich Gerd Brandler. They followed the route gully and ridge and followed the Marmolada ridge also named Brockensteig. In recent years the mountain massif has been the centre of a controversial ecotourism project. The name Lorera was given to the mountain by the Italian Alpine Club in 1966 and adopted by book critics who write in the language of Tyrol. Geography It is the highest summit of the Marmolada and Piz Lairitscha, part of the Silvretta group and the most north-eastern Dolomite peak. It is located northwest of the valley of the Brenta towards the west and the southern side of the Brenners. The top is about. It is situated between the Brenners and the Wilczek. South of the mountain,
